

REDS REJECT TRUCE OFFER IN BROADCAST

Clark's Independent Move Gets Cold Shoulder From Pyongyang

US ENVOY CALLS ON RHEE IN 55-MINUTE MEETING

SEOUL, Tuesday, June 30 (AP)—UN Commander Gen. Mark Clark suggested to the Reds yesterday that the Allies and the Communists immediately sign a Korean armistice without approval of balking South Korean President Syngman Rhee, but today the Red Pyongyang radio quickly spurned the offer.

Clark made his proposal in a letter handed to the Reds at Panmunjom after another secret session with Rhee.

Clark emphasized that he doesn't control the South Korean Government but does command its army. He promised the Reds his command would do its best to get Rhee's co-operation in a truce and said that, if necessary, the UN command would use armed force "to the limits of its ability" to assure observance of a truce.

The first Red reaction to the letter came today from the North Korean Communist radio at Pyongyang. It said the letter was not acceptable, showed "no sincerity" and was "inconsistent" with facts.

THE BROADCAST, monitored by Kyodo News agency in Tokyo, said the letter gave "no guarantee" on the future conduct of the South Korean Government and that therefore the Communists could not accept it.

The radio said the letter should have been written "with more sincerity."

The Pyongyang broadcast reiterated the Red stand that Rhee's release of more than 27,000 Anti-Communist Korean prisoners from UN prison camps recently was the result of what it called intrigue between the United States and the South Korean Government. Clark specifically denied this in his letter.

The broadcast insisted, as Red delegates did at the last full-scale truce meeting in Panmunjom June 19, that the freed prisoners be recaptured and returned to the compounds.

US PRESIDENTIAL envoy Walter S. Robertson called on Rhee today for the fifth time in as many days in the continuing effort to get the Korean leader to modify his opposition to a truce.

This time Robertson went to Rhee's mansion alone.

Robertson said after the meeting: "President Rhee and I are trying to work out a solution which will be acceptable to our two Governments and at the same time sacrifice the principles of neither."

Kepner Draws Sketch Of New Dog Shelter

A preliminary sketch of the proposed new borough dog shelter has been completed by Arthur S. Kepner, borough building inspector, it was announced yesterday.

Kepner, an architect, said the sketch calls for a cement-block shelter with room for 16 animals, and facilities to wash out the shelter.

The sketch will be submitted to Montgomery County SPCA members to see if it meets their specifications, Kepner reported.

Burgess William A. Griffith got council approval for the building of a new shelter after he conferred with SPCA members, who have been highly critical of the old one.

Close the doors, they're coming through the windows! And here comes Edward Hartline's row boat, nose first, out the front window. Hartline, on the porch, third from left, defied all laws of discretion the past December when he started building a huge rowboat in the middle of his living room. Hartline assured everybody that it would fit through the front door. He had a full inch to spare, according to the plans. Helping the ship builder are left to right, Wilson Weidner, Frank Pennypacker, and, rear, Paul Herb. Hartline said last night the boat would have fit through the door "if he had wanted to take it out that way."

Return for 'Thirds' Proves Undoing of Mother Fox, Brood

A mother fox who let her greed get the better of her fabled smartness was killed yesterday in Sanatoga, along with her five half-grown offspring.

The fox, which had been killing chickens, geese and ducks on the property of Mrs. Lillian Buchert, along Route 422, near Sanatoga firehouse, was shot by Richard E. Blair, 78 North Warren street, deputy game protector. He also shot the five young foxes.

The other young foxes were caught in their lairs by fox-terriers of George Schell, Perkiomenville RD 1, in charge of the game commission's food and cover program in Montgomery county, who was called in by Blair.

Norman Gaudin, who farms for Mrs. Buchert, saw the fox yesterday morning at about 8 o'clock. camp is about a mile and a half east of Route 100.

SCHOOL LOSES BELL; EX-PUPIL RECALLS PAST

100-Year-Old Building Has Served Its Purpose

ONE-ROOM STRUCTURE HAS MEMORIES FOR MAN

By NORMAND POIRIER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Like other little red school-houses all over the country, the one in Fagleyville has lost its bell.

They sold it a week ago for $47. And with its sale came the end of a tradition that started exactly 100 years ago this year.

For in the same way that the tolling of the school bell has been replaced by the honking of the school bus horn, so the one-room village schoolhouse has been replaced by the giant, modern consolidated building.

No one will argue against the progress that has put an end to this particular tradition—the advantages are so overwhelmingly in favor of the former—but there is usually someone around who will at least recall that there were some pretty enjoyable features about the "old way."

Such a one is Herbert Wagner, Fagleyville.

THE SCHOOL, located on Swamp pike in Fagleyville, was constructed in 1853—exactly 100 years ago—by Peter Smith.

"Before that," a spry, healthy-looking Wagner recalled, "children went to a school a few hundred yards up the road. That was called 'DeSchwammertohr' which means 'The Swamp Door.'"

Wagner, who "just turned the page of 80" as he says, entered the school in 1879 at the age of six.

At the school yesterday, he unlocked the front door of the building and led the way to the single vacant room.

"This is where the old pot bellied stove used to be," he demonstrated by holding his arms in a circle, and though around the imaginary stove.

"And here were four rows of desks, the length of the room. Used to sit two to a desk in those days."

THREE BIG windows on each side of the room looked out at other buildings.

"Wasn't much out there when I went to school here," he said. "That barn there was here and that house, but that's about all. Kids used to walk from as far away as a mile."

School in those days lasted from 8:30 a. m. to noon and from about 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

He commented on the old blackboards that still clung to the walls. Were those here when he went to school?

"Oh, my goodness, no!" he laughed. "Didn't get these until 'oh'... 1890!"

State Issues Warning On Borough's Part in Fixing of State Street

"When we put up money for a job we expect it to be used."

That was the advice passed on yesterday by the chief engineer of the State Highways department to The Mercury concerning the rebuilding of State street.

The State department has earmarked $12,000 for the re-construction of the street from Sixth street to Reynolds avenue.

It would mean a brand new street for the borough at practically no cost.

But the borough has to meet certain requirements first. For instance, widening the present street by two feet so it'll be 26 feet wide. And installing curbs along both sides of the street.

But yesterday the State department's chief engineer, C. H.

Man's Body Found 80 Feet Downstream From Artificial Limb

The 42-year-old Philadelphia man who drowned in French creek Sunday night was pulled out of the water at 2:30 a. m. yesterday morning.

He was identified as Fred Henry Oberholtzer, 42, 1337 Germantown avenue, Philadelphia.

The one-legged man, who left his artificial limb, trousers and shoes on the shore of the creek before going for a swim, was found by George Hamerschmidt of the Telford Diving unit.

Deputy Coroner Cooper T. Bishop pronounced a verdict of accidental drowning.

The site of the drowning was the St. Michael's Boys camp on the shores of French creek, just off the Pughstown-Kimberton highway in East Vincent township. The (Continued on Page Five)

Flash Thundershower Brings Relief To Sweltering Populace, Area Farms

A cooling thundershower early last night brought some relief to thousands of Pottstonians for the first time in nearly a week.

Not only did the sweltering populace of Pottstown benefit from the rain; the farmers living in the rural area also scanned the skies with an air of joviality.

When dawn first broke over the horizon at 5:34 o'clock yesterday morning, the weather indicated it would give a repeat performance as the hot humid variety that plagued most of the area Sunday.

It was the kind of day that saw a little bit of everything. Pottstonians who arose early were greeted by a heavy overcast that blotted out the sunlight.

School Board Closes Accounts for Year With $2345 Balance

A balance of $2345 was reported by Lower Pottsgrove school directors last night in their last session of 1952-53.

In closing the books for the year they reported revenue of $16,123 in amusement taxes. They had estimated the tax would take in $7500. The $16,123 is equivalent to four mills property tax.

They have inserted $10,000 anticipated income from amusement tax in the 1953-54 budget.

The township purchased and operated three school buses the past year and realized a saving in this move.

Directors elected Rufus Boyer, Pottstown RD 2, janitor and full-time bus driver at the school. He will be a 12-month employee. In the Summer while children are on vacation he will work on repair and (Continued on Page Five)

Luck May Finish For Convicted Killer

PITTSBURGH, June 29 (AP)—The last avenue of escape from the electric chair appeared to close today for Cleveland Thompson, convicted killer of a Pittsburgh bartender.

US District Judge Rabe F. Marsh heard final arguments on Thompson's appeal for a new trial and he reserved decision. But the jurist said:

"I believe I shouldn't have granted the stay (of execution) in the first place."

Judge Marsh granted a stay Thursday to hear arguments. Thompson's attorneys requested a new trial on grounds that Assistant Dist. Atty. Samuel A. Strauss, who prosecuted Thompson, suppressed evidence during the original trial.

Automobile Dealers Oppose Added Levy On Motor Vehicles

HARRISBURG, June 29—A proposal to place a State tax on motor vehicle sales today drew the strenuous opposition of Pennsylvania automobile dealers, who charged that such a levy would seriously affect the proven necessity of vehicles in the economy of the Commonwealth and work added hardship on a group already heavily-taxed.

The levy on motor vehicle sales was among proposals suggested today at a conference between Republican and Democratic leaders to end the stalemate in the Legislature on a tax program to raise funds required to balance Governor Fine's budget for the biennium.

In considering a tax program legislative leaders were urged by Claude S. Klugh of Harrisburg, general manager of the Pennsylvania Automotive association, to drop the proposed tax in the best interests of the State's economy and to protect motor vehicle owners from an even greater tax burden than they already shoulder.

The organization represents over 3200 new car dealers and more than 1000 independent repair shop operators in the State.

Try and Stop Me

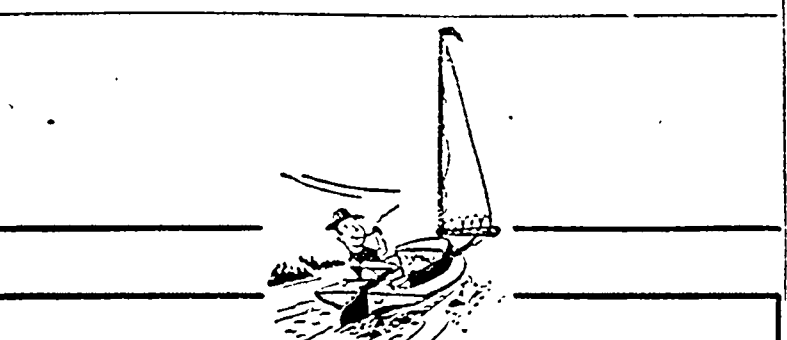

By BENNETT CERF

HE WAS the kind of fellow who got a job on Monday and lost it along about Wednesday afternoon. "And what's your excuse for getting fired this time?" asked his indignant wife upon hearing of his latest disaster. "You know what a foreman's like," he explained. "Just stands around and criticizes while everybody else works. Well, the one on the job today just got jealous of me. The other workers thought I was the foreman."

The motorist and the garage attendant had different ideas about what ailed the 1941 jalopy. "This happens to be my car," the owner concluded, "and I'll have you know that what I say about it goes."

"Okay," growled the attendant. "Try saying 'engine'."

Trucker Quells Auto Blaze on Bridge

A truck driver who averted a near-tragedy between Spring City and Royersford yesterday afternoon and then drove off without revealing his name, is considered a hero by George Robish, Phoenixville RD.

Robish, owner of the Royersford hotel, 207 Main street, was driving across the Schuylkill river bridge between Spring City and Royersford about 2:15 p. m. when the engine of his sedan caught fire.

The unidentified trucker pulled alongside Robish after he had crossed the bridge, signaling him to pull over. The trucker then quelled the blaze with a hand extinguisher from his truck after turning in a fire alarm.

Robish said he did not know his car was burning until the trucker warned him. The only damage to Robish's car was to the wiring.

Royersford firemen responded but were not needed.

Woman Discovers Two Chained Dogs Tangled Amid Trees

Investigating the reason for all-night barking of a dog, Mrs. Everett Stubblebine, North Church street, Spring City, found not one, but two well-bred canines attached to long chains tangled around trees and underbrush near her home yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Stubblebine, who maintain a dog shelter at their kennels, have six pure-bred dalmatians of their own. Sunday night about 10:30 o'clock one of the dalmatians began answering the wail of a dog somewhere not far away. It continued until 2 o'clock yesterday morning, when Mrs. Stubblebine's dog ceased barking.

When Mrs. Stubblebine continued to hear the other dog barking until 5 o'clock, she started an investigation. She looked down an embankment and saw a young setter. Peering further into the trees, she spied another, a brown-cross-breed dog. Both were attached to long chains and each wore the same kind of collar.

With the assistance of a man passing by, Mrs. Stubblebine released the two dogs after many minutes of untangling the chains from the trees. She took them to the dog shelter, provided them with needed food and water and tried to find the owner.

Mrs. Stubblebine will gladly restore the dogs to the owner, or if the owner does not apply, to anyone else anytime after 6 p. m. Phone Royersford 714.

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By The VACATION EDITOR
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Professor C. Everett Puckingham swabbed his brow with a wet handkerchief.

"Never saw a more sturdy crop of weeds," he growled with a sad shake of white head.

Puckingham had been hoeing the garden in the blistering sun for more than two hours. He had relieved three rows of peas from norishment-hogging weeds.

His chores were no less discomforting than the trials of the average Pottstown gardener.

Leaning on the hoe he surveyed the rest of the garden. The tomatoes, beans and corn needed dewing, but it was too hot to do anything but sit under the shade tree.

PUCKINGHAM stood in the sun for a full three minutes and perspiration trickled down his back. His feet swished in his shoes.

With one last disgusted look he left the tomatoes and corn to battle the weeds themselves and trudged toward a giant maple tree in back of his home.

"One of these years I'm going to try eating weeds and hoe out the corn and tomatoes," he muttered.

Sitting under the tree Puckingham thought about a cool mountain stream, a quiet cottage and nothing to do but lounge on a bed of pine needles on the forest floor.

SLUMPING back against the giant tree trunk the professor fell asleep. He dreamed about a vacation in the green mountains away from the weeds, the hot sun and Summer pests who stopped at his stone house on Linden street to argue the Civil War just one more time.

When he awoke it was cool. A breeze rippled through his matted hair. The perspiration on his body had dried and the sun was hugging the brown hills in the west.

Shaking himself he got up abruptly and that very moment decided he was going on his first vacation in 25 years.

For 25 years he taught history in the ivy-covered walls of Deweybright university. Now he had had enough. And a vacation it would be.

HE WALKED briskly into the house his father had built 30 years before.

He whistled "Danny Boy" while packing his cracked old suitcase. Looking at the brown, battered luggage he said with a little laugh, "old boy you've been in confinement for a long time. But we're going to put you back to work. You're off to the hills with me where nobody will disturb us."

The professor had a song in his heart. It would be good to get away from Deweybright. An it will be just as good to get away from Pottstown for a while.

FRIEND, if you haven't done anything but work for the past few years, get extravagant and go for a fling on the beach or the mountains.

All work makes Jack a dull boy. And Pottstown has no place for dull people. So get out into the sunlight. Your personality will improve. Your mental and physical health will change for the better.

And don't forget your friends back home. They want to hear about your adventures. Mail just one card to The Mercury Vacation Editor and he will reprint your message where all your friends can read it.

Don't put off your vacation. You may never get another chance.

Kiwanis to Present Annual Pupil Awards At the Elk's Home

The Kiwanis club will present its annual award night tonight in ceremonies at the Elk's home beginning at 6:15 o'clock.

The awards honor outstanding pupils in Pottstown and area schools each year.

This year's winner of the Silver Book award is Dorothy S. Saylor, of Pottstown High school. This $25 cash award is given to the outstanding history pupil in the High school.

Winners of the Wilbur O. Cressman awards are: Ronald Berthold, Pottstown Senior High school; Richard L. Weiss, Pottstown Junior High school; Rodney E. McMullen, North Coventry High school, and Laura W. Brunner, West Pottsgrove High school.

The Cressman award winners, honored for proficiency in vocational arts, will be presented with inscribed plaques.

The awards were named after the former head of the vocational arts department in the local High school who retired this year.

Tattoo Disperses Fear Dead Person Was Woman's Husband

The wife of a missing Pottstown man used a memory of a tattoo to dispel fears yesterday that he was the man whose drowned body had been recovered from a stream near Hartford, Conn.

Borough police saw a message sent out to all police stations by Hartford police. The message sought identification of the drowned man.

The teletyped description of the man in Hartford tallied closely on many points with the description supplied by Mrs. Harold A. Miller, 845 South street, of her 35-year-old husband, whom she reported as missing six days ago.

There were slight differences between the descriptions as to height and weight, but tattoos on the arms were mentioned in both.

Mrs. Miller ended the suspense by calling Hartford police directly. In the conversation, she mentioned that her husband had his social security number tattooed on a leg.

The drowned man did not have such a tattoo.

Area Man Is Treated For Auto Crash Injuries

George Hamilton Jr., Birdsboro RD 1, was treated in St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, for injuries which occurred when his car struck an embankment at Robeson's crossing, near Gibraltar.

He suffered multiple cuts of the right arm, right shoulder, right leg and left ear.

He told State Trooper George Balsai that he lost control of his car on a curve.

Local Man Is Held As Disorderly Person

A Water street man was charged with disorderly conduct early last night.

John Seyler, 29, of 633 Water street, was arrested by Patrolman Lorin Leuthold at 9:50 o'clock at High and Washington streets. He was committed to the borough lockup to await a hearing before Second Ward Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley tonight.

Four-Year-Old Gashes Foot in Bicycle Spokes

Four-year-old Mary LaRue Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wadsworth, Route 83, Parkersford, received cuts of the right foot and leg yesterday when she caught the foot in the spokes of a bicycle.

The child was given dispensary treatment in Memorial hospital.

Governor's Personal Plea Is Ignored As House GOP Turns Down Tax Bill

HARRISBURG, June 29 (AP) — House Republicans tonight ignored a personal plea by Gov. John S. Fine and turned down a new 130 million dollar tax package.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said there were 40 votes against the keystone of the package—a 2 percent sales tax on automobiles, trucks and buses.

Ninety-one of the 109-member House GOP caucus were on hand for the crucial vote.

Asked by newsmen as to what will be the next step by the House GOP leadership in dividing a tax package to close a 118 million dollar gap in the commonwealth's 51,400,000,000 budget, Johnson threw up his hands in disgust and said sternly:

"I don't know. I really don't know."

Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader who sat in on conferences leading to development of the package, said there was "nothing to discuss" by him until the GOP leadership gets caucus approval of a tax program.

The House Republicans spent 3½ hours in their closed session, including 15 minutes for an appeal by the Governor to enact a tax program quickly to prevent "great harm" to the Republican party.

Johnson said opposition to the tax package ranged from 40 against the automobile sales tax to 17 against the proposal to increase the 4 cents a pack cigarette tax to 5 cents.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS also abandoned any attempt to revive the defeated 1 percent sales tax. Today is the deadline for reviving that levy for the remainder of the 1953 legislature.

Asked if any of the taxes voted down by his Republican colleagues would be presented to the Democratic side for the latter's support, Johnson said:

"We didn't have 105 votes on any of them and I don't know if we gave enough for the Democrats to go along with."

Johnson said the House rules committee would meet again tomorrow morning to lay strategy for breaking the long-standing stalemate on taxes.

Although the GOP leader would not concede outright death of the new tax package, he said, "that's right," to a newsman's query as to whether "the heart of the package was kicked out" by the action of the Republican caucus.

Johnson said the principal opposition to the automobile sales tax was that it was "a tax on a necessity of life" and shouldn't be considered a luxury.

Earlier, the Governor said he was "very hopeful" that the newest tax package development at a conference with him of Republican and Democratic assembly leaders would clear the caucus.

'Cinderella' Stages Sit-Down Strike In Winthrop Rockefeller's Tower

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Cinderella sat steadfast in the tower today with the baby prince she hopes will give her blighted romance a happy ending.

Cinderella is 36-year-old Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller.

The tower is a lushly-appointed 15-room duplex atop one of social Park avenue's swank apartment houses.

And the baby prince is Winthrop Paul, four-year-old son of the wedding of the coal miner's daughter and Winthrop Rockefeller, heir of oil millions.

"I've always wanted a reconciliation for the child's sake," she said regarding rumors of divorce. "I am doing my best still to avoid problems for him, and to preserve the marriage, even as it is, to protect him."

AS SHE HAS insisted throughout the three and a half year estrangement, Mrs. Rockefeller told newsmen she had no plans of her own for a divorce, and didn't know whether she would contest one her husband might seek.

He recently went to Little Rock, Ark., to establish a legal residence, and had declined any public comment on his marital situation.

Wearing a salmon-red, high-necked linen dress with black trim which set-off her lissome, blonde beauty, Mrs. Rockefeller appeared gay as she saw reporters today.

Frequently she giggled as she told why she had suddenly reappeared Friday at the Park avenue residence after three years during which she lived with her son on her parents' 100-acre farm at Lowell, Ind.

"Basically, this is our home," she said, adding that she foresaw no difficulty about being admitted. "I just rang the doorbell and they let us in," she stated.

Britain Moves for Substitute Talks To Precede Bermuda Big-3 Meeting

LONDON, June 29 (AP)—Ailing Sir Winston Churchill's substitute Government moved today to arrange an early American-British-French meeting on world problems demanding urgent attention.

There was immediate speculation that the proposed ministerial-level talks will replace, rather than precede, the three postponed Bermuda conference between Churchill, President Eisenhower and the French Premier Joseph Laniel.

A Foreign office spokesman said, however, the three still planned to get together later.

The Big Three conference was postponed twice because France didn't have a premier and the third time, Friday, because Churchill's doctors said the 78-year-old Prime Minister was too tired to carry on the heavy duties of Government and needed a long rest.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, heading the Administration while Churchill convalesces, told Parliament Britain has negotiated with Washington and Paris for an interim meeting to discuss "certain urgent problems of common concern."

HE SAID BRITAIN would be represented by Lord Salisbury, lord president of the council whom Churchill late today appointed as acting foreign secretary during the absence of Anthony Eden, who is convalescing in the US from a third gall bladder operation.

The problems to be discussed at the proposed parley obviously would include the Korean truce crisis, prospects of uniting Germany, Allied policies in the Middle East and Asia, and welding a common front to deal with Russia's new worldwide "peace" strategy.

The problems to be discussed at the proposed parley obviously would include the Korean truce crisis, prospects of uniting Germany, Allied policies in the Middle East and Asia, and welding a common front to deal with Russia's new worldwide "peace" strategy.

Boatman, 76, Docks Mail Order Vessel On 4000 Mile Tour

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—A 76-year-old man brought his frail little boat into New York harbor today after nine months and more than 2500 miles on the water.

"I just have boat fever," said Harvey H. Hecker, a retired civil engineer and veteran of World War I and the Spanish American war.

He still has about a third of his 4000-mile odyssey ahead of him.

It began in October, when he left the old soldiers home in Sandusky, Ohio, in the 15-foot skiff he built from a pre-cut kit from a mail order house. It's powered by a small out board motor.

HECKER CRAWLED down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers at an average speed of about 12 miles an hour, hitched a ride on oil barges across most of the gulf, then chugged through the lakes, swamps and intercoastal waterways from Florida to New York.

He plans to loaf around New York for a week, then idle up the Hudson river to Albany, N. Y., and via the Erie barge canal to Lake Erie, and back to Sandusky.

He'll be honored tomorrow at a US Merchant Marine academy luncheon.

DROUGHT AID GETS APPROVAL OF EISENHOWER

Eight Million Relief Allocated for Disaster

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved an eight million dollar emergency relief allocation to aid drought-stricken stockmen and farmers in Texas and Oklahoma.

The White House announcement said the aid would go to 152 counties in Texas and 40 in Oklahoma but did not list them. This list was expected to come in the formal announcement of the allocation tomorrow and the designation of the counties as disaster areas.

Earlier today, 13 senators introduced a bill in Congress designed to make certain that the Government has the money and power to meet disasters such as the Southwest drought, where crops and livestock are endangered.

The legislation would authorize Government loans to farmers and stockmen at 4 percent interest. It also would provide for Federal purchase of feed and other supplies for resale to farmers.

SEN. LYNDON B. JOHNSON (D-Tex.), who introduced the measure, told the Senate he had consulted several government agencies "and they do not know whether they have the authority to do the things that must be done."

The machinery for helping Texas and Oklahoma was set into motion after Eisenhower met with Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who had just returned from an inspection of the Texas drought area.

The White House meeting also was attended by Val Peterson, who as civil defense administrator is charged with aiding in disaster relief, and Budget Director Joseph Dodge.

Benson told reporters the first steps will be aimed at speeding emergency feed to livestock growers.

Farm leaders who visited Washington the past week said stockmen would have to unload their livestock if they couldn't buy feed they could afford and this would push down beef prices.

Reds Open Supplies To Halt New Unrest In East Germany

BERLIN, June 29 (AP)—Communists threw open long-hoarded supplies of food today to quiet the rumblings of new unrest among the sullen East German workers whose rebellion June 17 brought Soviet martial law.

Despite the stern measures enforced by Red army troops and armor ever since they quelled the rebellion, there were several attempted demonstrations for more food late the past week.

Communist bosses moved swiftly, however, and today the Red press claimed they had whipped the food crisis.

Public larders were opened and food reserves long denied the hungry workers were distributed. Food stocks were rushed in to critical areas. Imports from other Soviet satellites were increased.

COMMUNIST NEWSPAPERS claimed that even the farmers who had courted jail by failing to meet state-ordered crop quotas were beginning to bring grain, pigs and vegetables into the formerly bare city market places. As food supplies improved, strikers resumed work.

Everywhere throughout the riot-shaken Soviet zone the embers of revolt appeared dying. The 300,000 man Russian army seemed in complete control.

Western military experts today admitted they were impressed—and a bit alarmed—at the efficient way the Soviet troops had smashed the widespread attack by two million rioting strikers.

The Red Army's performance convinced many of these experts that the West can no longer discount the Soviet army in East Germany as a soft occupation force incapable of launching a sudden and effective attack westward.

Alert Cop Pinches Pigeon Poacher

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—A curbside trapper was seized by police Sunday in the shadows of Chicago's loop.

The trapper was seized by John Elliott, a park district policeman, for poaching pigeons near Michigan avenue and Randolph street. Elliott explained that the city code bans poaching—the trapping of birds, beasts or reptiles—on park property.

Arrested was a man who identified himself as Warren Davis, 27, of suburban Glenview. Elliott said the man used peanuts to lure pigeons within his grasp, then thrust the birds into a bag.

The man, charged with trapping and cruelty to pigeons, was released on $10 bond pending an appearance in Racket court.

Four Tugs Tow Freighter Into Harbor With Body of Heroic Crewman Aboard

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Four laboring tugs tonight towed into New York harbor a Brazilian freighter badly smashed last night in a collision with a tanker off the fogbound coast of New Jersey.

Aboard the stricken vessel was the body of a crewman who gave his life in an attempt to ease crash impact. The collision opened a gash from the freighter's deck to its waterline.

The Anne Moran, a tug of the Moran Towing and Transportation company here, originally had taken the Brazilian ship in tow after the collision. Three others subsequently joined to speed up the job.

The freighter was being taken to the Todd shipyard in Brooklyn. The only victim of the collision last night 12 miles offshore was Aristides Bestos Dos Santos, 33, of Rio De Janeiro, crewman on the 5408-ton freighter Loide Panama.

SHIPMATES SAID Dos Santos saw the big American tanker Gulf trade bearing down in the fog and rushed to put a hemp bumper over the side where the tanker was about to strike amidships.

The crash split a 25-foot wound in the Loide Panama's side and killed Dos Santos instantly. Two other Brazilian crewmen were injured, one with a broken leg.

No one was hurt on the Gulf trade, which backed off under its own power and stood by to help in rescue operations. Its bow was damaged.

Half the crew of the Loide Panama, including Capt. Cesar De Freitas Silva, remained aboard the badly listing ship, which settled in the water but seemed in no danger of sinking.

The rest of the crew, taken aboard the African Endeavor, a merchant ship that answered a frantic radio call for help, were returned to New York.

Congressman Seeks To Impeach Douglas

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Representative Wheeler (D-Ga.) today accused Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas of treason as part of six specific grounds for impeachment.

Wheeler took the House floor for an hour's discussion of his resolution to impeach Douglas for "high crimes and misdemeanors" as an aftermath to Douglas' stay of execution to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The full court vacated the stay, although the majority stressed the opinion that Douglas' acted within his authority in granting it.

RED ATTACKS KNOCK ROKS OFF FOUR POSITIONS

Allied Bombers Smash Troop Concentrations On Central Front

SEOUL, Tuesday, June 30 (AP)—The battered but unbeaten South Korean infantry fell back yesterday from four hills north of Seoul under the relentless pressure of 12,000 attacking Chinese Reds and one of the greatest Communist barrages of the war.

The South Koreans also were thrown back on the Eastern front, where forward elements of six Chinese divisions are on the attack along the valley of the Pukhan river. The Koreans were forced off Lookout mountain just west of the river under the crushing weight of Red artillery fire.

Communist troop concentrations on the East-Central front were pounded during the night by 12 US Superforts. The B-29s dumped their ten-ton bomb loads on an assembly area east of the Finger ridge sector.

It was the second heavy B-29 raid on Red frontline positions in that area in two nights.

ONLY IN THE air could the Allies find victory. Sabre pilots reported they shot down six MIGs who tried to stop Sabre fighter-bombers from a plastering raid on Namsi, near the Yalu river. Sabres thus ran their month's score to 59 MIGs, only four short of the record set in September of 1952.

Corps officers said the weight of about 12,000 Chinese and an artillery barrage just short of a Korean war record forced the decision to break off the action and let the Chinese take over four fiercely contested hills west of Yonchon some 40 miles north of Seoul.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) First division began pulling back on order at noon yesterday and by 4 p. m. had conceded the hills known as Queen, Bak, Betty and one unnamed height.

Four other hills which the Chinese had attacked still were in ROK hands.

The orders were presumably given by Lt. Gen. Bruce E. Clark, US First Corps commander. He was on the spot and was caught in a bunker by a 1200-round Red artillery concentration that smashed his helicopter parked nearby.

CORONER SEEKS TESTIMONY TO CLARIFY DEATH

Inquest Will Be Held Today, 17 Witnesses to Testify In Prison Case

Seventeen witnesses will testify at an inquest into the death of Lester H. Clemmer, 29, Sumneytown, in the courthouse, Norris town, this morning.

Clemmer was found dead in his Norris town county prison cell early on the morning of this past June 15.

It was first believed he died of a heart attack, but a subsequent autopsy proved that death was caused by a fracture at the base of the skull.

Coroner Winslow J. Rushong has called the witnesses in an effort to clear up the events leading to Clemmer's commitment to jail.

THE SUMNEYTOWN motorist was involved in a two-car accident on Shelly road, near Vernfield. The auto he was driving collided with a car operated by Harry Harpel, 48, of Salford, the night of June 14.

State Troopers Charles Hicklin and Thomas Cuff, of Jeffersonville, had Clemmer examined for sobriety by Dr. H. G. Carter, Pottstown, and then took him home, since they were not sure he was driving.

Later they learned Clemmer was driving when the car crashed and obtained permission from Dr. Carter to commit him to jail.

Today's inquest will begin at 10 a. m.

Monkey Eludes Trap, Makes Off With Bail

PITTSBURGH, June 29 (AP)—A monkey which employees of the Banana Supply company believe arrived here with a shipment of bananas from Honduras, Central America, is eluding all traps including a tear gas attack today.

John Catanzaro, co-owner of the company, said the gas bomb was set off today after all other efforts to capture the monkey failed — "but that failed too," added Catanzaro.

"We walked back into the warehouse after the bomb had time to take effect and there he sat as comfortable as could be, eating a banana."

The monk scrambled back to the rafters before anyone could lay a hand on him. Catanzaro said two monkeys leaped out of a railroad freight car last Saturday while it was being unloaded.

One of the monkeys was captured quickly when it darted into a small room. But the other, Catanzaro says, "has been making monkeys of us."

"We set a trap for him yesterday—baited it with oranges and bananas—and the monkey sprung the trap then made off with the fruit."

"I don't know what we'll try next but I sure would like to get the animal out of the warehouse. He's hard on the produce."

East Vincent Schools So'd in Second Area Auction Within Week

Seven more old-time school-houses, this time in East Vincent township, went to the highest bidder the past Saturday.

They went the way of the three schools in West Vincent that were auctioned off on Friday.

Though just a few weeks ago they housed classes of children, they will soon be transformed by their buyers into needed private homes or apartment buildings.

The seven stone buildings, topped by asphalt shingle or tin roofs and standing on plots of about half an acre, went under the hammer of Ralph D. Mertz, Spring City auctioneer, for prices of from $2650 to $5350.

LOCUST GROVE school, site of the sale, brought $4500.

Located on Bridge street outside Spring City, it was bought by Russell F. Fathshaw, owner of nearby Sunny Slope farm and dairy.

Highest price was realized on the Salem school, Route 83 west of Spring City. It was sold to Stephen Ardes, Phoenixville, for $5350.

The other five buildings went to the following:

Bertholet, Pughtown-Kimberton road, to the Rev. John Yole, Pottsville, $3850.

MT. PLEASANT, Heistand's Corner, and Hickory Grove, Spring City-Kimberton road near Route 23, both to George H. Phillips, Heistand's Corner, $3900 and $3175 respectively.

Stony Run, Stony Run road near Route 52, to Fred Hunter, Spring City RD. $3100.

Crab Hill, east of Route 83 near Pennhurst State school, to George W. Bower, Spring City RD. $2650.

School Board Hears Construction Report At Monthly Meeting

The Upper Pottsgrove school board heard a progress report on the construction of its new building at its monthly meeting last night.

All members of the board attended the meeting which was in charge of John W. Fadler Sr.

The discussion on the new building was led by Morris Hartenstein, president of the local school board authority.

Authority members reported that, with the ending of the carpenters it is hoped that the building will be completed in time for the new school term in the Fall.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board accepted the bid of Harry A. Keene for the purchase of school supplies.

The secretary was also authorized to advertise for bids for heating oil for the next term. The board announced it was seeking a census enumerator.

The next meeting of the board was moved up to July 20.

State Warns on Road Job

borough then constructs them and charges the property owner.

This might take so much time, Schade pointed out, that the State would be too tied up with its other Fall commitments to tackle the local job.

Schade said last night that he had contacted Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden and suggested to him that a meeting of the highway committee be called on the problem.

SCHADE said he thought it would be a good idea to let property owners know that the borough could take bids from contractors on the building of curbs for the whole street.

Then the property owner could either accept or reject the borough bids.

"I think it might be cheaper and faster for the curbs to be built that way instead of having each owner build his own," Schade said last night.

But still another complication was brought up last night. The letter from District Engineer E. J. Kinney saying that the State would go ahead with the project, dating to more than a month ago, also said that the work would be done provided there was no manpower shortage at the time.

This provision seems to have been overlooked by local councilmen.

WHAT WOULD happen if the borough got all the curbs in and then found that the State couldn't

TWO MONTHS of fun and frolics on Pottstown's 11 playgrounds began yesterday. Children romped for the first time on the new Brookside playground in the North End. In the morning they sang and played games. In the afternoon they participated in crafts work. Instructor Betty Fosnocht supervised activities. Brookside playground is one of four playgrounds designated as tot lots. Only children under 12 years participate in activities on tot lots. The entire playground program is sponsored by Pottstown recreation commission. Mrs. Florence Manthorne is playground director.

Police Trace Owner Of Hit-Run Vehicle

Boyetown police announced last night that the owner of the hit-run car that damaged the parked vehicle of Thomas Gottshall, 127 North Reading avenue, was a Philadelphia man.

The owner was traced through the license number which was spotted by witnesses at the scene.

Police said that the owner, Marion F. Gilkey, 6155 Webster street, Philadelphia, would be notified today.

It has not been determined who was driving the car at the time of the accident but police expect to ascertain the driver's name when the owner is contacted.

Police are continuing their investigation into the second mishap which occurred shortly after the first accident when another driver sideswiped the police car.

western part of the State.

DESPITE THE unusual combination of weather, the lady of the house did manage to get her wash out and dried.

No damage was reported as a result of the storm which covered the area from 5:55 p. m. until 5:30 p. m., but occasionally lightning did touch off the borough's fire alarm system.

During the storm nearly .05 of an inch of rain fell in Pottstown. It was the first measurable rainfall in over a week.

There is a good chance of widely scattered thundershowers in the extreme south portion of the State tonight, according to the weatherman. He predicts the weather to be mostly fair during the day with a temperature high of 90 degrees.

Tomorrow should be partly cloudy, warm and humid with scattered thundershowers in the afternoon.

of State added, in a chat with newsmen who flagged down his car as he left Rhee's home, "obviously there are points which need clarification in our negotiations. Otherwise there would be no need for these meetings."

Robertson and Rhee talked about 55 minutes today. The Washington representative said he would meet with Rhee again tomorrow, but did not mention the time.

SOUTH KOREAN foreign minister Pyun Yun Tai told newsmen today the Robertson-Rhee talks were going "smoothly" and should end "in a matter of days."

He declined to comment on what was discussed in the talks but said that he expected any agreement reached would be translated into action immediately.

"Our people would not believe just words," Pyun said.

He said the outlook for the talks "is bright," and added that "President Rhee is always optimistic."

Pyun said Clark's letter to the Reds calling for a quick signing of an armistice contained "some serious points that require careful study." He declined to list the points.

HE ASKED the members to study the work and budget of local agencies and compare this with the efforts and funds of similar organizations in other communities.

Citing the importance of the intangibles behind social service work figures, he recommended the workers look at agencies' budgets "with their hearts as well as their heads."

Considering all these factors, he said, will aid the panel members in setting a realistic figure for each agency.

After the meeting, the group was served refreshments, donated by Frank Hartenstein.

Bolton Urges Probe Of Education Costs

HARRISBURG, June 29 (AP)—The Joint State Government commission was asked today to investigate the "staggering cost" of public education in Pennsylvania.

Rep. William A. Bolton (R-Montgomery) introduced a resolution in the House calling for the inquiry.

"Local school districts find that the present salary budgets for 1953 exceed the total school expenditures of 1947," Bolton said in the resolution.

"In addition local taxation has reached the twin barriers of diminishing returns and legal prohibition, and all this at a time when most school districts desperately need additional buildings."

Anthony Eden Looks Fit Leaving Hospital

BOSTON, June 29 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, smiling broadly and looking fit, left New England Baptist hospital today 21 days after he entered for a bile duct operation.

Prior to his departure for Newport, R. I., to convalesce, Eden's surgeon, Dr. Richard Catell, said in a bulletin:

"We are convinced that after a full period of convalescence complete recovery can be assured."

Eden, in a gray double-breasted suit and hatless, stood at the hospital with Mrs. Eden while news photographers recorded his departure. He had sent word to newsmen earlier that he would not answer questions but in response to some made anyway, he answered he felt "all right."

Milk Dealer Session Will Attract 200

Over 200 guests are expected at an inter-area "get-together" of milk dealers at the Brookside Country club today.

The meeting will include representatives from three districts: the Reading Milk Dealer's association, which takes in Pottstown; the Philadelphia suburban, and the Lehigh associations.

Activities at the annual affair will get under way at 2 p. m. with golf. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m.

The event was set at the local club this year to take advantage of its central location in the area covered by the three districts.

Area Driver Bashes Own Car in Collision With Light Standard

A South Pottstown motorist did more damage to his car than the light standard he smashed head-on while driving on the Reading concourse last night.

The driver, tentatively identified as Sherman H. Burbank, Coventry road, South Pottstown, was heading south on the concourse when he hit the light standard in front of the Reading company station.

Police reported only light damage to the standard which is the property of the Reading company.

Motor Patrolman Paul J. Gallo-way Jr. said the entire front end of Burbank's car was damaged. The vehicle was towed from the scene.

Burbank will report to police with identification today. He said he did not see the standard.

Red Troops' Action News to US Officers

BERLIN, June 29 (AP)—Allied quarters said tonight a report published in the United States that Soviet troops had moved into Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, to quell a Czech uprising is news to them.

Officers whose duty it is to know about any unusual troop movements in Central Europe said they had no knowledge of the use of Red Army units in the Soviet satellite. One informant said such a rumor probably got started almost a month ago when rioters in Pilsen protested the Czech currency reform. There has been no sign, however, that the Prague Government needed any outside help to handle the unrest.

A Sad Record

FOUR drownings in three week-ends was the sad record established in Pottstown area swimming meccas on Sunday when a Philadelphia lost his life in French Creek.

And a near tragedy was heroically averted when a mother, fully dressed, threw herself into a private swimming pool to save her two-year-old son.

The sultry weather is filling the swimming holes with hot humans, and you can't blame them for seeking relief. But they should be ever mindful that swimming or even dunking yourself in the water is a dangerous pastime.

So don't forget the rules of bathing which have been preached from lake to seas. Furthermore, watch the children with an eagle eye; they can't be expected to obey the rules. And don't forget: just because you are in the water with a hundred others, don't think they're doing nothing but watch you. Like as not, they're not paying a bit of attention.

So take it easy in the water.

Bold Words vs. Timid Acts

NO issue was bigger than corruption in the 1952 campaign—as waged by President Eisenhower and his speech writers. Scores of times they blazed away at Truman and Democratic corruption. If only the voters would make a change in the White House and in Congress, the new groom would really sweep clean!

Now that the Republicans have responsibility for scooping up the dirt of the past, they are singularly uninterested. They seem to have forgotten all they said about exposing the faithless. The decision of the House Judiciary Committee not to subpoena Justice Tom C. Clark is a case in point.

There are very good reasons why Justice Clark should appear before the Keating subcommittee.

There are good reasons why he should swear to tell the truth and answer questions about his weak-kneed investigation of the 1946 Kansas City vote frauds, about several important tax cases, a war frauds case and other matters which came under his jurisdiction when he was Attorney General, 1945-49.

The Keating subcommittee first gave Justice Clark an opportunity to testify voluntarily. This he rejected. Then the subcommittee referred the question of a subpoena to the full Judiciary Committee. Now the full committee has decided not to summon Justice Clark—and it has done so by the astonishing vote of 22 to 5.

After the vote Chairman Chaucey W. Reed of Illinois said that he was "not at liberty" to disclose the lineup. As if another one of the GOP campaign claims was not that it would do the people's business in the open!

Thanks to enterprising correspondents, the names of the five who voted to subpoena Justice Clark were found out and reported. They are Keating and Miller of New York, Hyde of Maryland, Case of New Jersey and Hillings of California.

Since the committee contains 29 members, this means that 11 Republicans joined the Democrats in failing to vote for a formal summons to Justice Clark to appear and testify.

What earthly excuse can the GOP give for backing away from this issue? The statement of Chairman Reed that some members opposed subpoenaing the former Justice Department head because of the "impending adjournment of Congress" is just so much nonsense.

The adjournment of Congress is utterly irrelevant. If the Keating subcommittee needs to hear Justice Clark it should hear him regardless of Congress's continuance or adjournment.

It begins to look as if the GOP wants to cover up not only for Justice Clark but for some of its own boys who got into the act. Who is it they are protecting? How many of their own are they trying to hide behind Justice Clark's judicial robes?

Congressman Keating calls it unthinkable that Justice Clark should escape from giving an accounting of his stewardship as attorney general. We could not agree more. Public opinion should require the timid, politically-motivated Republican-controlled Judiciary Committee to reverse itself.

Subpoena Justice Clark!

Box Rental Hike Unfair; Left Turn - Ha!

Postoffice Box Charge Resented

To the Editor: This morning's Mercury revealed that box holders in our local postoffice are now faced with additional rising costs and inflation—something which our government has constantly frowned upon but apparently now is encouraging and is setting an example.

Is there any apparent reason for increasing lock box rent again—and this time by about 50%? Those patrons are actually paying a premium to go to the trouble of coming to the federal building for mail and parcels with the result that Uncle Sam is saving wages on one or two carriers who otherwise would have to make deliveries. It seems decidedly unfair.

Just because of the fact that very few of the patrons registered complaints about hiking the fee is no indication that they do not resent it as not all persons lay vent to their feelings in this manner.

Not long ago Uncle Sam made much ado about keeping prices down, but now it appears he too is falling into line and doing the same as others who feel the sky is the limit.

To pay inflationary prices is merely further encouragement toward more or additional increases. Need we say more?

WASHINGTON

US Doubly Embroiled In Far East Problems

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 29—Syngman Rhee's cussedness—the blunt Churchill calls it "treachery"—demonstrates again that there are no safeguards against rambunctious or unreliable allies, even for such a powerful and generous Nation as the United States.

Sixty-four Senators, headed by John W. Bricker of Ohio, back the resolution preventing a Presidentialy negotiated treaty from superseding Federal and state laws. Although the Rhee incident strengthens sentiment for outlawing future Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam agreements, it also shows that there is no sure way to terminate troublesome foreign involvements.

PRESIDENT DETERMINES ALIES: A President, not Congress, determines the identity of our allies in a war or diplomatic offensive. He must be influenced and bound by circumstances. He must act on the spur of the moment, without waiting for Congress to convene and decide.

FRD, for instance, idealized Chiang Kai-shek and his glamorous wife as defenders of democracy, pure and noble. But Chiang turned out to be a weak reed, contributing to the loss of China with some assistance from Washington. His official family, including close relatives, reeked with corruption.

In the same way, Harry S. Truman depicted Rhee as a strong and trustworthy friend of the West. Now, the Korean dictator demands that we continue a costly and bloody war and destroy any chance of settling major disputes with Red Russia, China and the satellite countries.

US IN IMPOSSIBLE POSITION: As a result of these White House-inspired imbroglis, the United States finds itself in an impossible position. We may wind up by guaranteeing the security of two remote and exposed positions—the Korean Peninsula and the Island of Formosa—which are ruled by two headstrong Orientals.

In the opinion of our diplomatic and military observers on the spot, such a contradictory tie-up for democratic America will eliminate all prospects for permanent solution of the all-important Far Eastern problem.

It will lead to an era of racial and economic tensions, intermittent wars like those in Korea and Indo-China, and result in a great gain for Russia in the East-West struggle for men's minds everywhere. That is the basic and long-range aspect of our relations with Rhee and Chiang, far surpassing in importance the outcome of a cease-fire or an armistice in Korea.

Thus, not even the Bricker resolution can protect us against our friends. We should have discovered the danger of entanglements during World Wars I and II, but we are slow to learn the lessons of Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson, for instance, went to the Versailles conference with great hopes for a parliament of man, and our Allies' acceptance of his "Fourteen Points." But he found that Clemenceau and Lloyd George had negotiated secret territorial agreements that "broke the great heart of the world"—and his own.

When the Western nations went to Russia's rescue after Hitler's invasion of June 22, 1941, FDR assured us that the Combies believed in the "four freedoms," and that they would co-operate with us for world peace after victory. No comment is needed on Moscow's violation of that sacred pledge.

Diving Unit Suggested

To the Editor: With all the drownings and near-drownings there have been in and around Pottstown in the last few weeks, I should like to suggest that one of the borough fire companies set up a diving outfit such as the one in Telford.

Telford has done a very good job and deserves a lot of credit, but after all, Pottstown is the center of a section with a lot of dangerous streams—the Manatawny, Schuylkill, Perkiomen and French Creek.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

HARLEY T., is a college senior. "Dr. Crane, is there anything really harmful about smoking cigarettes?" he inquired recently.

"And, if so, what is the best method for breaking the tobacco habit?" "My girl friend doesn't smoke and objects to my use of cigarettes."

THE PAST YEAR the average cigaret smoker burned up $90.56 on the ends of his cigarets, according to a survey.

That is an economic loss that most people can ill afford, especially for a selfish personal pleasure that nobody else enjoys.

With that same $90.56, think how many movie dates or quarts of ice cream a man could give to his entire family. But the medical disadvantages of tobacco are really critical, though young people seldom worry about far off events like a shortening of their life span. But you middle-agers should beware of tobacco.

For it tends to kill people in the 40's and 50's by heart attacks. It also predisposes to high blood pressure, apoplexy, Buerger's disease of the arteries, plus cancer of the mouth, throat and lungs.

ATHLETES ARE OBVIOUSLY hampered by smoking. It shortens their wind. For it greatly increases the carbon monoxide content of the blood.

Most smokers also are addicted to coughing and leg cramps which are due to the irritating effects of their tobacco.

Dr. Lennox Johnston, recently interviewed 10,000 Brits who had stopped smoking.

Although most of them had felt they were in perfect health while they used cigarets, when they broke their slavery to this habit, they noticed a marked increase of "high spirits, energy, appetite and sexual potency, with recession of coughing."

In my own wide practice, I have found that smoking seems to dull the sex desire. Middle-aged smokers are thus very likely to be impotent.

And that is almost sure to be the case if they are also overly fat! For I find that obesity and tobacco kill romantic desires quickly.

Our fire companies are very well equipped in most respects, but I think one of them should add a diving outfit. They might be able to save lives in the time it would take Telford to get here.

A Morale to This

To the Editor: I was quite surprised and greatly amused to read the article in the Royersford section concerning complaints about improvements at Gruber industries.

Several nights this Summer I have been kept awake by barking dogs. On inquiry or investigation I find the noise is coming from that vicinity, and on further investigation I find that the people who complain of "too much noise" are the owners of such dogs.

The saying is, I believe, that you shouldn't throw stones if you live in a glass house.

Men and women at the plant are trying to earn money to clothe and feed families. Besides, when walking past the plant late at night, I didn't find such noise objectionable.

4 in Doehler Union Among Delegates in Accord on Contract

Four members of Doehler Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO), attended conferences between the National Doehler-Jarvis council and negotiators from the Doehler-Jarvis division of the National Lead company this past week.

Joining President Leonard A. Keffler at the week-long session were Walter Linderman, chief steward; John Gallagher, skilled division representative, and John L. Deegan, production representative.

The conference ended on Saturday with a supplemental agreement to the five-year pact which will expire at the end of 1955.

Under the agreement workers will receive from 60 to 65 percent in overall pension gains. It provided a maximum pension of $137.50 for 30-year employees as against the old maximum of $115.

The agreement provides the present cost-of-living allowance of 24 cents remain the same and freezes the cost-of-living figure at 19 cents.

The agreement calls for a five-cent wage improvement factor instead of four cents, and provides certain skilled and maintenance classifications receive 10-cent hourly wage boosts.

Approximately 2000 union employees at the Pottstown plant will join Doehler-Jarvis division workers at the Toledo, Ohio, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Batavia, N. Y., and Chicago plants in voting on the agreement July 7.

After the mother fox and one young fox came out, Blair decided the others' wouldn't be coming out.

He and Gaugler got the four remaining ones after the dogs walked into the fox tunnel, and when the men dug down to where the foxes were. The dogs' muffled barking told the Game commission men where to dig.

proving that the boat WOULD'N'T have fit through the front door. It may have fit with plenty of room to spare as Hartline says.

But somehow, the picture of Hartline measuring and re-measuring the height of the boat and the width of the door over and over again at 3 o'clock in the morning before the men came to help him haul it out, scratching his head, then shrugging, keeps popping up.

Of course, maybe the boat WOULD have fit through that door.

It may be just more stylish this year to move boats in and out through the window.

Would-Be Burglars Force Hilldale Door

Would-be burglars pried open the door to the administration building at Hilldale, took nothing once inside, then cleaned up the shavings outside the door before they left, it was discovered yesterday.

Edmund J. Koser, executive secretary of Montgomery County Housing authority, said he believed the neat work was that of youngsters. He said the building was not ransacked.

The break-in was discovered by Charles Seeders, maintenance superintendent for the development. Lower Pottsgrove Police Chief Harry Chrusch investigated.

stopped a number of persons from donating blood.

"OTHERS HAD to wait and cool off before their temperatures dropped enough to allow them to relinquish blood."

First-time donors contributed from 35 to 40 percent of blood taken, one of the highest percentages for initial donors in recent visits by the bloodmobile.

The bloodmobile pulled into the spacious armory at noon and the first donor formed in line an hour later. Donors were well staggered throughout the torrid afternoon.

Dr. Baumann asserted, "No one had to wait very long. Everything went along smoothly."

THE BLOODMOBILE departed at 6:30 p. m. Volunteers participated in the program. Staff aides were Mrs. F. A. Wertz, Mrs. James C. Wilkie, Mrs. H. B. Carney Jr. and Elizabeth M. Griffiths.

Gray Ladies were Mrs. George Gavalos, Mrs. John Frazer and Mrs. William E. Mills.

Mrs. Edward Lewis, nurses' aide, and canteen workers, Mrs. Ethel Boden, Mrs. Helen Smith, Mrs. Ruth Bernhart, Mrs. John Schneck, Mrs. Otto Belten and Mrs. Raymond Kepper contributed to the program.

REGISTERED NURSES who helped bloodmobile workers were Mrs. Margaret Seward, Mrs. Edith Borneman and Mrs. Jane Welds.

The bloodmobile will make its next Pottstown visit on July 15 at the American Legion's George A. Amole Post 47.

SCHOOL LOSES —

until about 1890. Then he took teacher's examinations and went out on his own.

He spent 29½ years teaching. He taught at "Layfield, and Freed's, in Collegeville, Upper Dublin, Whitmarsh, and then back here."

He taught at the little school the last time from 1921 to 1935.

"The principal here when I went to school was getting about $28 a month. The primary teacher received $18 a month. How'd the teachers like that now," he laughed, merrily.

How did teachers in those days compare with those nowadays? "Weren't so entertaining then. I say the best teacher is the most entertaining teacher."

"But we had fun in those days," he stated, flatly, as if waiting for an argument. Satisfied that he wasn't going to get one he went on, "Yes, we had a lot of fun," and he smiled and walked to the far end of the room.

"This is the partition," he said. "We used to slide this partition to the middle of the room and make two rooms when there were a lot of pupils."

At one time, he said, there were as many as 66 pupils in the little school house.

IN ONE day, a teacher would have to teach all eight grades. "Course, in the early days, we didn't have 'grades.'"

While one group would be working arithmetic problems, another group might be learning the dates of the Punic wars.

"I remember one of my proudest days was when I could work every problem in 'Brook's arithmetic.' I couldn't do it today, mind you," he confessed.

The schoolhouse served more than one function, too, in its day.

"Used to have the Fagleyville Literary society and we'd meet here. Held a lot of debates. I remember how we debated, "Is the Pen Mightier than the Sword?" "And another time we debated, "Should Women Have the Right to Vote?"

"The room was packed for that one," he smiled.

SUNDAY SCHOOL also was taught in the building. The school was open steadily from 1853 to 1951. But in that year, the pupils were transported to Douglass township school and Boyertown schools.

What happened to all the people he had studied with and at the little school.

"Oh, some went on to become ministers, teachers, farmers and businessmen. I still remember some of the old teachers, way back. The old ones aren't living any more."

"But there are quite a few still around here. There's Mrs. William Acker of Fagleyville, and Nathan Yerger. He's in Royersford. And Ed Deysher up near Kutztown. And Mrs. Edward Meecham of Sassamansville."

THE SCHOOL was sold at auction on June 20. It was purchased by the Community Grange and will serve as their headquarters.

"There's a little stage at the far end of the building where we used to have children's recitals and plays and such."

The Grange members will meet there on July 15 to talk over plans for remodeling it. Wagner himself is a Silver Star member of the Grange.

The 50-year-old teacher was asked if he thought there were any advantages in the "one-room schoolhouse" kind of schooling over the present, modern methods.

He thought for a minute and finally replied, "No."

So the day of the red schoolhouse in Fagleyville is over.

The bell has been taken down, after one hundred years, from the belfry.

But the peals of silence heard by a few stimulate only a feeling of nostalgia, not a sense of mourning.
